

KING CABINET TO RESIGN NEXT WEEK

WAR CLOUDS HAVE DRIFTED FROM IRELAND

Peace Has Dawned For Country Torn by Strife For Year, Says Ulster Premier

Sir James Craig and Lady Craig Visitors in Victoria To-day

Peace has dawned in Ireland. After years of political stress and storm, the land of the shamrock faces a future of progress and prosperity, in the opinion of Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, who with Lady Craig is a guest at Government House to-day.

"I have nothing but a good report to give of Ireland," said Sir James to The Times this morning. "Ireland while he was enjoying the beauties of Government House gardens. 'I would say without hesitation, that the feeling among all classes and creeds is more conciliatory than it has been for a century.'"

PERFECT HARMONY
"The two governments work in harmony and with less politics," said Sir James. "Both North and South are looking forward to a period of development. The amicable settlement between William T. Cosgrave and myself of the boundary question proves that no matter how complicated or how difficult a problem faces us, by good will and an overriding desire to help our native country it will always be possible to reach a solution beneficial to both parties."

Asked to show the remarkable difference between the pre-war Ireland and the Ireland of to-day, Sir James said that this was a question into which time scarcely permitted to delve. He preferred to compare the political situation of to-day with that of the immediate past.

OLD SYSTEM
"Prior to the war," said Sir James, "the executive authority rested in the hands of one man—the Chief Secretary—who being a member of the British Cabinet, was tied for the greater part of a year to London. Consequently, no matter what government was in power the administration of the multifarious departments fell into the hands of under-secretaries and assistant under-secretaries, a most capable and patriotic set of officials, but naturally hampered by their positions not carrying sufficient authority to deal with the fact that all matters of importance had to be referred to London."

CHANGE FOR BETTER
"Under the present system," said Sir James, drawing his comparison, "in both North and South, every department of life is under the direct control of a minister responsible to Parliament, which insures a sympathetic hearing of all concerns. The two executives work in harmony and the old barriers have been completely destroyed."

MESSAGE OF HOPE
To Irishmen the world over, Sir James cast out a message, to-day which rang with hope and promise, when he said:

"Ireland, settled and working amicably, should have a great future, and the Empire, and foreign countries where Irishmen reside should feel a sense of relief and have cause for pride in the progress which Ireland has made in recent times, and the promise she gives us for her future."

Another stirring statement which Sir James made yesterday while in Vancouver, brought to light his personal sentiments. "I say God bless the country that has severe problems to solve. I know that the fight we were engaged in in Northern Ireland was a fight which, if we had lost, would have meant very much to this great British Empire. If British citizenship is worth fighting for, it is worth fighting for to the death," he declared.

Accompanying Sir James and Lady Craig are their son and daughter, Dennis Craig and Miss Lillian Craig. All are staying at Government House.

(The Victoria County Lodge, L.O.L., will be hosts to-night to Sir James at a banquet to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7 o'clock.

Ontario Election Date Seems Near

Toronto, Sept. 15.—"There will be an election of some kind," stated Hon. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, to-day when asked to amplify his declaration of yesterday that he would not face the legislature again with none vacant seats in the assembly.

Political observers at the Parliament Buildings are of the opinion the ultimate decision will result in the holding of a general election early in November rather than by-elections to fill the vacancies in the House.

AIMEE McPHERSON NOW FACING ARREST

Reported Five Others May be Arrested in Los Angeles Case

Los Angeles, Sept. 15.—Aimee Semple McPherson probably will be arrested to-morrow as a result of the sensational charges, that the Angelus Temple pastor was implicated in attempts to manufacture evidence to support her story of kidnapping. It is learned from an authoritative source, at least two and perhaps five other persons may be arrested at the same time under orders of District Attorney A. L. Keyes, the same source indicated.

An official previously had said the basis of any arrest would be charges of subornation of perjury, in influencing others to make false affidavits.

MANLY PHONE CALLS
In her serene at night's Angelus Temple service, Mrs. McPherson urged members of the congregation and radio listeners to deluge the district attorney and newspaper offices with telegrams. These, she said, should explain the sender's opinion of the "unjust and unfair persecution" of the woman-greacher by "unknown enemies for some unknown motive."

Soon after the evangelist had finished the request, the home of the district attorney was deluged with telephone calls until the instrument was disconnected.

PLOT ALLEGED
Los Angeles, Sept. 15.—The Los Angeles Times says a third and independent attempt to "frame" evidence in the Aimee Semple McPherson case was reported to the district attorney's office yesterday by Nick Harris, head of a local detective agency.

FAKE STOCK SALES BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Police Say Confidence Man Worked in Vancouver and New Westminster

Company in Regina States Certificates Handed Out Were Forged

Vancouver, Sept. 15.—Thousands of dollars have been stolen from residents of Vancouver, New Westminster and Fraser Valley through sale of alleged forged oil stock certificates, according to the provincial police, says a special dispatch from New Westminster published to-day by The Vancouver Evening Sun.

"Printed on the certificates," says the dispatch, "was the name of the Queen City Oil Company, Regina, Sask., and the company seal."

COMPANY'S STATEMENT
When these documents were forwarded to that address, it is said, company officials replied to the effect they had found the company's seal had been forged on the certificates.

"The case has been turned over to the authorities, who are said to believe the man responsible for the sales 'answers the description of an internationally known crook, going under aliases, who has made a specialty of oil stock swindles.'"

STEAMER SANK AND CREW BELIEVED SAFE

Italian Ss. Ellenia Went Down Southwest of Ireland; Many Craft in Vicinity

London, Sept. 15.—Lloyd's report the Italian steamship Ellenia (from Norfolk September 11) sank this afternoon off the Irish coast. The steamship, which was carrying a full cargo, was seen by a fishing boat at 4.12 p.m. and disappeared.

The time of the disaster is given in the dispatch as 4.12 p.m. and the position of the Ellenia at the time as latitude 50 north, longitude 11.50 west.

The Ellenia was of 2,758 tons register. The Homer was five miles from the Ellenia when the disaster occurred. Twenty-five minutes later she was over the spot where the ship had disappeared.

There was considerable wreckage, but no member of the crew was seen. CREW BELIEVED SAVED

A wireless message from the Homer by way of Valencia to Lloyd's said: "Numerous sail and fishing craft and one steam trawler were in sight. The weather was fine, with a slight sea. Presume crew abandoned ship and were picked up."

NO TRACE OF MISSING CREW OF STEAMSHIP

Hamilton, Bermuda, Sept. 15.—The steamer Don flag, westward bound, reports she passed a capsized lifeboat and wreckage off this island. It is feared the boat is that in which the crew of the British freighter Loyal Citizen abandoned their sinking vessel on Tuesday. The Loyal Citizen carried a crew of thirty men.

Crowded Audience at Rotary Club Luncheon Hears Splendid Address

Famous Specialist Praises Mill Bay Location of Solarium

Sir Henry Gauvain, famous British surgeon and child specialist, and medical superintendent of the Treloar Homes for Crippled Children, addressed a crowded audience of men and women at a luncheon held to-day at the Empress Hotel, and sponsored by the Rotary Club.

President Edwin Tomlin of the Rotary Club, after welcoming the visitors to the club's weekly luncheon, introduced Sir Henry Gauvain with a brief summary of his career.

Sir Henry Gauvain told of the hearty welcome he had received throughout Canada, "which became warmer and warmer until I arrived at this gem of all Victoria."

KINDLY AND PRACTICAL
"It must be saddening to all kind hearts to see such sights as these little children, who for no fault of their own, are so crippled and handicapped. I know that you will do what you can to help them."

"There is another reason why you should aid them. The children have before them long lives of great potentialities. My great aim has been to alleviate poverty, which later grew into the present undertaking for aiding crippled children."

The War Office had handed over one of the large hospital units built to accommodate wounded soldiers from South Africa, and Sir William Treloar had raised by public subscription a fund of $50,000.

These crippled children have an average duration of stay of fifteen months, during which time they continue their education under the eyes of specialists, being studied during the quarantine period which marks their first entry, and are then devoted to curative treatment.

BRITISH COMMENTS ON CANADA ELECTION

London Standard Says That People's Decision is Censure of Baron Byng

London News Says Constitutional Question Swung Many Votes to Liberals

London, Sept. 15.—The London Evening Standard, owned by Lord Beaverbrook, regards the result of the Canadian general election as a sharp censure of Lord Byng, Governor-General of Canada. It recalls that it pointed out at the time of the occurrence that Lord Byng had made a great constitutional mistake in refusing Premier King a dissolution and a short time later granting the same to the new Premier, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

"By taking such action, Lord Byng not only did an injury to his reputation," The Standard says, "but an injury to Premier Meighen's electoral prospects following the dissolution. The liability of such an error is inevitable when a soldier is sent to fill a politician's place."

POSITION REVERSED
"During the war we heard much indignation expressed with regard to politicians filling soldiers' jobs. The reverse process, of which we have an example here, is at least as dangerous."

The Standard thinks that although a soldier in the House of Commons is a mistake, it is a far more serious one to have a politician in the House of Commons. The Standard says that the strongest figure by far for the Conservative leadership is Hon. R. B. Bennett, M.P. for West Calgary.

The London Star, evening edition of The Daily News, says Lord Byng's action in refusing a dissolution to Mr. King and granting it to Mr. Meighen created a bad impression. "Although, doubtless, he acted for the best."

BONDS NOT WEAKENED

London, Sept. 15 (Canadian Press).—Commenting on the result of the Canadian general election, The London Daily Express surmises the result may be interpreted as indicating a weakening of the Empire bond and a swinging toward affiliation with the Liberal Party.

"Nothing, however," the paper declares, "could be more widely divorced from reality. Annexation is the strongest Canadian sentiment of the Empire viewpoint. Mr. King's Government is as good as Mr. Meighen's, the differences dividing the Liberal Party from the Conservatives in Canada being domestic, not imperial."

TRADE GROWTH
The paper thinks the "remarkable victory" of the Liberals was due to the strong national sentiment of the last year, the reduction of the income tax burden, with further reductions foreshadowed, the success of the Canadian National Railway and the promise to build the Hudson Bay Railway.

The London Daily News speaks of the result as a "victory" for the Liberal Party, stating that the "victory" was due to the strong national sentiment of the last year, the reduction of the income tax burden, with further reductions foreshadowed, the success of the Canadian National Railway and the promise to build the Hudson Bay Railway.

MUCH FARM LAND IN IOWA FLOODED

Levee Gave Way; Flood Conditions in Middle West of United States

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Continuation of floods in the Middle West which had caused more than $1,000,000 damage was marked by the breaking of a levee on the Skunk River, near Weaver, Iowa, to-day. Much farm land was soon under water, as farmers and prisoners from the Fort Madison penitentiary worked hard to check the flow. A four-foot gap widened to seven feet within an hour.

The main section of the levee, which protects thousands of acres of farm lands, was still intact, but the river rose a half foot during the night.

LEAGUE ANTI-LIQUOR PLANS ARE URGED

Association of Nations Asked to Enter Battle Against Alcohol

Geneva, Sept. 15.—A demand that the League of Nations enter the battle against alcoholism is being made. August Zaleski, Foreign Minister of Poland, presented a petition from delegations from Poland, Sweden and Finland yesterday. He emphasized that the sale of alcoholism was made worse by the absence of co-ordinated international action against the abuse of drink.

POSITION OF J.S.
A document distributed among the members of the League Assembly to-day refers especially to the smuggling of alcoholic liquor into the United States in defiance of its prohibition law. This is a disgrace to civilization, it is declared, nullifying the praiseworthy efforts of people and Government to solve the alcoholic problem.

The pamphlet states the United States and the Baltic countries have negotiated treaties to end this evil, but it insists that without uniform international action there can be no hope of success.

MINISTERS BACK FROM ALL PARTS OF PROVINCE NOW

Oliver Meets Colleagues After Strenuous Election Battle All Over B.C.

Members of the Oliver Government, who have been hurrying back here from all parts of the Province since the federal election of Tuesday, got together for a formal Cabinet meeting today. Practically the entire Cabinet is here now following strenuous days of campaigning in the federal political field.

Among the early arrivals after the poll was Attorney-General Manson, who spoke in the Boundary country on the eve of the election and arrived here just after the polls closed on the following day. A fast drive via Seattle and the Anacortes ferry brought the Attorney-General here in a marathon time. Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance, also made fast time from the interior by train. Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, came down from Revelstoke to-day, while Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, is expected during the next day or two from Prince Rupert.

Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, will come down from Nanaimo after voting there on Tuesday.

CEMETERY DEAL CONSIDERED
No matters of outstanding importance awaited the decision of the Cabinet on its return to the Capital. One subject which is causing much discussion in Vancouver, the Point Grey cemetery project, is still outstanding and probably no action will be taken on it until the return of Mr. Pattullo.

The Premier said to-day he was waiting for a formal brief from those who are opposing the establishment of a burial park in the Government's Point Grey subdivision. Meanwhile, he intimated, he feels there is no necessity to apologize to the Point

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly every case of indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to the presence of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try taking a few drops of a few ounces of Bile Beans and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bile Beans (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

SIR HENRY PLEASED WITH SOLARIUM SITE

Sir Henry Gauvain, medical superintendent of Alton and Hayling Island Crippled Children's Hospitals, England, was the guest of a dinner at the Union Club last night presided over by Dr. Cyril Wace and attended by Lady Gauvain, Mrs. Curtis Sanson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, W. C. Nichol, J. A. Sayward, Miss Sayward, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Mrs. Peden, Dr. and Mrs. Robertson, Miss Ravenhill, Miss Hilda Willis, Sir Richard Lake, J. P. Babcock, H. H. Hutchison, Heincken and Hammerley.

With Dr. Wace and F. Napier Denison, Dominion meteorologist, Sir Henry and Lady Gauvain visited the Solarium at Mill Bay yesterday. He said that from the information he had received from the Denisons the climate here was nearly ideal for such an institution, with the added advantage of the site being on a hill, reflecting back the active rays which are so valuable in this treatment.

As for the expenses of operating the Solarium, Sir Henry said that the children will need a lot of feeding and that food should be the last thing to be economized on. He also told of the effect of light on mentality, vigor and vitality of children, explaining that at the Alton Hospital the average mental intelligence of the children was one year above that of the children in the London schools. During the dinner a spray of roses from the Parliament Buildings was presented to Lady Gauvain.

They informed the shareholders that the trail work upon the property was all finished, that a substantial cabin for protection during the winter was completed, and that a very considerable amount of opening and prospecting work had been done upon the veins, with results extremely satisfactory.

The company has money in hand to carry on the work for some time, and share applications are constantly coming in. It was expected that the sale of shares would be closed down almost immediately, as the company did not intend to offer more than a

Calmette Vaccination Prevents Tuberculosis

Experiments Very Satisfactory—New Method Is Recommended by Professor Adami of Montreal, Now Noted Medical Authority in Britain

The late Prof. Adami, who was chancellor of the University of Liverpool at the time of his recent death and who previously had been a prominent member of the faculty of McGill University, Montreal, was a doctor who was highly regarded in England as he had been in Canada and the United States.

In a recent address Prof. Adami chided the medical journals for having had so little to say about the Calmette method of vaccinating people, cows, and other animals against tuberculosis.

In this address he spoke as follows on this method:

"I come now to what I believe is the greatest advance of the day—an advance equally important for the prevention of both human and bovine tuberculosis. I refer to the great work of Calmette. Here, obviously, is a magnificent advance. We see before us a simple means of eradicating both human and bovine tuberculosis."

The Lancet was stirred by Adami's criticism to publish not only the address of the Liverpool chancellor, but also an editorial on the Calmette method. This editorial said:

"It is evident that Calmette has carried out an important and extensive sociological experiment, the net result of which will be awaited with much interest. At present the data are too vague and lacking in controls, and the period of the experiment is too short for anything like a final judgment."

It is interesting to know that experiments with the Calmette serum are being carried on in this country. Dr. Park announces that the experiments in the New York health department, laboratory indicate that the Calmette method is the most promising procedure that has come to their notice.

Dr. W. E. Larson of the University of Minnesota, is using a vaccine made in the same general way as that of Calmette.

The experiments of Calmette are not as embryonic as the editorial in the Lancet would lead one to think. Calmette began his experimentation along this particular line twenty-one years ago. Six years ago he had accumulated enough experience to fill a book of 500 pages. Having vaccinated several thousand calves, he began vaccinating human beings in 1921.

He and his pupils in France and elsewhere have now vaccinated a total of more than 10,000 cattle, nearly 10,000 children, and a fair number of monkeys, apes, guinea pigs, rabbits and other animals. Some of the calves were vaccinated more than five years ago. Some have been under observation for the natural life of a milk cow at the pail. Some of the children are getting well toward the end of their pre-school life period. While the Calmette method is still experimental, it is now a clinical trial, standing on a good deal of actual proof.

Residents of Island Desire Direct Telephone Connections

While President G. H. Halse of the B. C. Telephone Company, was inspecting construction work on Salt Spring Island recently, the Gulf Islands Board of Trade made formal application to him to have Salt Spring connected up with the company's lines and given direct service. The Dominion Government already had lines there, Mr. Halse asserts, and unless pressure is brought to bear by the people of Salt Spring, and the consent of the Dominion authorities is forthcoming, Mr. Halse will not talk with Kamloops. Mr. Halse, however, points out that only through the courtesy of the C.P.R. Telegraphs and the government can such extensions be carried out into fields which are not yet commercially practicable.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT CLUNY CASTLE

Chapel and Two Wings of Palatial Mansion in Scotland Destroyed

Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 16.—Cluny Castle, belonging to Lady Emily Eliza Cathcart, and one of the largest and most palatial mansions in the north of Scotland, was visited by a disastrous fire last night. The Aberdeen fire brigade succeeded in saving the main part of the structure, but two wings and the beautiful chapel were blackened ruins this morning. The loss is estimated at $348,000.

When the fire broke out, supposedly from a defective fuse, Lady Cathcart, members of a house party at which she was hostess, and the servants, hurriedly carried the family treasures to the lawn.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth (Beattie) Gillis took place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, and was largely attended by friends. The Rev. Joseph McCoy, D.D. of Knox Presbyterian Church, conducted a very impressive service, during which the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Forever With the Lord." Beautiful floral designs covered the casket. Thomas Jacklin, Alfred Jacklin, W. F. Jenkins, J. C. McKay, Alex. Tait and F. Showers acted as pallbearers. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. There passed away at the Jubilee Hospital at a late hour Wednesday evening, Lucas Wilber Evans. The body is resting at the S. J. Curry & Son, Funeral Home, 980 Quadra Street. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

COURT RULING WILL NOT HIT REVENUES OF B.C. SERIOUSLY

Government Not Likely to Appeal Decision on Outside Tax Delinquents

The Provincial Treasury will not be seriously affected by a decision of Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald yesterday refusing the Government the right to collect delinquent taxes from people now living outside the Province.

This decision does not involve any very large sums of money and is not likely to be appealed, it was stated at the Finance Department yesterday.

In the case decided by Mr. Justice Macdonald the Government was seeking the right to sue Robert Cassidy, of Edmonton, for $1,486 in taxes owed to the B.C. authorities. Mr. Justice Macdonald set aside service of a writ in this connection.

The suit against Mr. Cassidy was one of a number launched by the provincial authorities to speed up collection of taxes. The ruling of the courts, of course, does not affect suits launched against B.C. residents.

Foley Wins Bout

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Vic Foley, Vancouver, will enter the semi-finals to be held on September 23 in the elimination boxing contest to choose an opponent to meet Leo "Kid" Roy, Canadian featherweight titleholder. Vic Foley last night scored a knockout over Percy Dubois of Ottawa.

The fight was more of a mauling match than a boxing encounter. Foley did not extend himself until the sixth round, in which he scored his knockout. He satisfied himself with scoring enough points in each round to give him victory. In his appearance last night Foley was fighting for the first time as a featherweight.

When the plague attacked London in 1665 there were only four hospitals in the city. Now 19,000 patients daily occupy beds in London's 250 hospitals.

GENEROUS GIFTS FOR SOLARIUM

Two Gifts of $50 Each Received by Women's Auxiliary

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary for the Queen Alexandra Solarium held yesterday afternoon, two generous donations for the Solarium were announced, one of $50 from the Shawmigan Lake Women's Institute and another gift of the same amount from a group of friends represented by Mrs. Darnell of Royal Oak in memory of the late Rev. C. R. Little.

Miss Willis, the newly-appointed nurse superintendent, was introduced to the meeting, and assisted in the deciding of various important details connected with the hospital.

Mrs. L. H. Hardie kindly consented to act as treasurer. Mrs. Frank Campbell reported successful results in connection with contributions and membership fees resulting through her canvass at the New Westminster Fair.

Among the further gifts gratefully acknowledged by the meeting were a donation of fireplace and tiles from Messrs. O'Neill, the stove dealers, whose gift was earmarked for the nurses' sitting-room; a dinner bell from Mrs. Carson, and knitted baby socks from the following: Mrs. Willoughby Jones, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Beveridge, Mrs. Colin Cummins, Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Beckett.

It was resolved that future meetings should be held on the second Tuesday of each month, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The members were particularly pleased with and interested in a gift of rag dolls sent by Mrs. Petch, of Lyall Street, Esquimalt. Mrs. Petch is eighty-one years of age, but her needlework in these dolls is beautiful. They are all stuffed with clean fresh-carded Vancouver Island sheep's wool, and so that they cannot possibly hurt the most sensitive of the little patients.

Duncan

Duncan, Sept. 16.—The Cowichan Women's Institute resumed their regular monthly meetings on Tuesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. G. E. Tisdall in the chair. A resolution from Mrs. Gordon to the effect that the Provincial and District Conferences should be held in alternate years, the Government to finance both, was endorsed by the meeting. A further resolution also from Mrs. Gordon, that no woman attend a conference as official delegates for more than two consecutive years, was not agreed to, the Institute feeling it best to reserve their personal liberty in these matters. A resolution from the Women's Conservative Association re Oriental labor, was fully endorsed by the meeting. At the conclusion of the ordinary business, the president, Mrs. Tisdall gave a most interesting and instructive paper on "Vitamins." Tea was served by Mrs. Storey and Mrs. Cook.

The dance given in the opera house, Duncan, under the auspices of the Cowichan Chapter, I.O.G.E. proved a most delightful affair in every way. Music was supplied by the Barry Orchestra from Cobble Hill, and dancing was kept up until 1 a.m. Super arrangements were in the capable hands of Mrs. Stock, assisted by Mrs. Dawson-Thomas, Mrs. Macgregor and others. Mr. C. H. Dickie, the successful candidate in the National Federal Riding, attended and was cordially greeted. He thanked all present for their efforts and good wishes.

ROYAL MARRIAGE PLAN IS DENIED

Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 16.—The Grand Marshal of the Royal Palace declared to-day he was unaware of any engagement between Crown Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid of Sweden.

A dispatch from Stockholm last night said: Princess Astrid of Sweden and Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium will soon become engaged to be married, says The Dagbladet. The Prince is twenty-five years old and the Princess, daughter of the Duke of Vastergotland, brother of King Gustav, is twenty-one years of age.

Germany and France Heavy Wool Buyers

London, Sept. 16.—Offerings at the wool auctions to-day amounted to 10,721 bales. There was an active demand from France and Germany and occasional American buying under the influence of strong continental competition. Finer grades of merinos were 7 1/2 per cent dearer, while medium and coarse crossbreds were frequently 10 per cent above July prices.

TROPHIES PRESENTED AT DUNCAN SCHOOL

Duncan, Sept. 15.—A pleasing ceremony took place at the Duncan Public School Monday afternoon, when R. A. Thorpe, chairman of the Duncan Consolidated School Board, presented the shield, cups and medals which had been won during the year. The school shield for sports was won by Miss Stuart's room. The three cups also presented for sports were won by Miss Stuart's room, Miss Owens's and Mr. Miller's. The medals for individual championships were won by Helen Mackenzie and Harry Talbot.

Harry Talbot also had the distinction of winning the medal presented by the Knights of Pythias for the highest marks gained in arithmetic at the entrance examination. Talbot gained 100 per cent. Mr. Stuart, principal of the school, and Trustees R. A. Thorpe, W. Stanhope and R. Morford were present.

Seattle-California Air Mail Service

Seattle, Sept. 16.—Daily air mail service along the Pacific coast between Seattle and Los Angeles was successfully begun yesterday. More than 12,000 letters reached here on the inaugural northward journey over the route, eleven minutes ahead of schedule. The 1,699 miles was covered in 13 hours and 49 minutes. Groves Tyler, superintendent of the Pacific Air Transport Company, contractor for the service, was pilot on the initial flight from Vancouver, Wash., to Seattle. The plane was greeted here by A. E. Paterson of Washington, D.C., assistant superintendent of contract air mail service, and Mayor Bertha K. Landes and Postmaster C. M. Perkins of Seattle. The greeting was brief and informal. Pilot Tyler was complimented on his successful trip, loaded for passengers and cargo and then started overhauling his plane for the return south from here.

Explosion Killed Men in Tunnel

Kansas City, Sept. 16.—Eight workmen met death 300 feet under the bed of the Missouri River here yesterday in an explosion in the water-works tunnel being bored to North Kansas City. The cause of the blast has not been determined, but workers who had toiled all day in the gas-laden air of the tunnel reached the bodies of the victims last night. All had been killed instantly by the force of the blast, which did considerable damage to the bore. All of the victims lived in Kansas City.

ONTARIO SEAT IS OFFERED MEIGHEN

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 16.—Gordon C. Wilson, Conservative, who was elected on Tuesday to the House of Commons to represent the constituency of Wentworth, Ontario, has offered his seat to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, who was defeated in Portage la Prairie.

In a letter to Mr. Meighen yesterday he said: "The results of yesterday are most disappointing and I regret your efforts in the interests of Canada have not been appreciated, but it will not be long before the people realize the mistake they made yesterday. I wired you last night offering you the Wentworth seat, and I know Wentworth will approve of my action, and that Canada will still have the great benefit of your exceptional ability."

Italy to Restore Death Penalty

Rome, Sept. 16.—Organizers of armed revolts against state authority and those attempting to take the life of the King, Queen, Crown Prince or head of the Government, will be subject to capital punishment in Italy, according to an outline of a bill being prepared as an aftermath of the recent attempt to assassinate Premier Mussolini.

Pacific Milk's Advantages

Behind the fine flavor and greater richness of Pacific Milk are the advantages favorable to dairying in Fraser Valley, the pedigree of the herds, the care and interest of its 2,500-farmer owners and the special way it is packed. These factors make British Columbia the home of Canada's finest evaporated milk.

KING NAILS FALSE OIL STOCK STORY

B.C. Liberal Leader Says He Bought Shares on Strength of Stevens's Investment

Cranbrook, Sept. 16.—Hon. J. H. King, voiced his objection to the statement of Mr. Meighen made at Cobourg recently that he was a "prominent shareholder" in the oil company discussed in the closing days of the campaign. Dr. King desired to publicly state he was one of the few hundred dollars worth of this stock on representations made by salesman that Hon. H. H. Stevens had invested heavily in this company and had much to do with its control. Dr. King issued a statement to-day in which he said: "I greatly appreciate the support given to me by old and new friends in East Kootenay. I regret that the Province of British Columbia has not given greater support to an all Canadian policy which is the desire of Mr. Meighen, King and the Liberal Party to give to the Canadian people thus unifying Canada into one of the great Dominions of the Empire. The people of Canada have interpreted my view point, as they did last year and it is my hope and purpose that I will be able to serve to their advantage."

OIL ON RUSHING STREAM BURNED

Unusual Sight During Flood in Illinois; Much Rain in United States

Chicago, Sept. 16.—A September of almost daily rains came to its half-way mark in the Middle West yesterday upon the crest of a new trend, provoked by a general rainfall over six states. The downpour reached cloudburst proportions in some localities and sent rivers and creeks on the fourth rampart in a fortnight. Uncontrollable waters near Princeton, Illinois, "caught fire" when a pipeline burst and spread 2,000,000 gallons of oil on the swollen surface of North Creek. The onrushing flame damaged bridges, timber and crops in a mile-wide swath for ten miles downstream before finally burning out.

BOY KILLED IN PLAY; BOY NOW FACES CHARGE

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Twelve-year-old Manual Manulkin was killed yesterday in a friendly demonstration in a public-school yard here of how Dempsey and Barney would fight. The boy died as a result of a blow from a playmate, Carl Weinstein, ten, who played the part of Dempsey. Weinstein was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

MAN WOUNDED BY ROBBERS

Batavia, N.Y., Sept. 16.—In a fruitless attempt to steal a payroll here amounting to $4,000, a gang of four men last night probably fatally shot Vincent Evans, a local resident, on Hutchins Street. The holdup men escaped.

K.K.K. URGES U.S. NOT TO INTERFERE IN MEXICO AFFAIRS

Washington, Sept. 16.—Winding up its third biennial convocation, the Ku Klux Klan yesterday adopted unanimously a resolution requesting the United States Government not to interfere in the religious controversy in Mexico. Thus another issue was drawn between the Klan and the Knights of Columbus, who have appealed to President Coolidge through Secretary of State Kellogg for intervention in the dispute between the Calles Government and the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Mexico.

THE FINAL ACT

ALL THE POWERS WHICH SIGNED the Locarno agreements have now deposited their ratifications with the League of Nations. This completes the formalities connected with one of the most memorable post-war conferences and marks the beginning of a new and more peaceful era in international relations in Europe.

Still a large number of sceptics remain to be shown that the last war was actually the war to end war. It is not easy to shake their belief that nations will continue to settle their differences in very much the same way as that employed by individuals who prefer force to reason. Nor is it to be supposed that the Locarno treaties and the admission of Germany into the League of Nations will put an end to all war in Europe. But the sceptic will have to admit that the world has progressed a good distance on the way towards peace since the various nations undertook to expose their treaties to the public gaze. More than fifty member states of the League of Nations are pledged to deposit such documents with that organization in order that its special department may examine them and publish their contents. This method of procedure is in striking contrast with the old form of secret diplomacy when Cabinets could bind nations to all sorts of commitments without the knowledge of the public. Many of these pacts, as the people have learned to their cost and sorrow, were more often provocative of war than they were instruments of peace.

Particular importance attaches to the Locarno agreements because they eliminate much of the danger of war between Germany and France. They bind the two countries to an undertaking to submit such grievances as may develop between them to arbitration before resorting to armed force. They also provide for certain consequences that ought to dampen the ardor of the aggressor who attempts to override their provisions.

AN ITALIAN INQUIRY

ONE OF OUR ITALIAN READERS inquires if we have any proof to support our assertion of a few days ago that the assassin helped Premier Mussolini at the outset of his career as dictator of Italy. This is a very interesting inquiry because several distinguished men of letters and leaders of thought in our correspondent's native land have risked their lives in order that some light might be shed upon the trend of events since the Fascist chieftain set himself up as the country's ruler nearly four years ago.

When we said that "the assassin helped him at the outset," and suggested that the employment of this ally soon "began to get him into trouble," we had in mind the "suppression" or murder of Giacomo Matteotti on the tenth of June in 1924 and the events which preceded and followed it. It will be remembered that this young member of the Right, or Moderate, wing of the Socialist Party was kidnapped on the date above mentioned and his whereabouts were unknown until his skeleton was found in a wood called La Quattarella, sixteen miles from Rome, on August 15 of the same year.

Matteotti was a tenacious and uncompromising opponent of Fascism and early in 1924 he published a book called "A Year of Fascist Domination." This was a formidable indictment of the methods and consequences of black-shirt dictatorship. On the last day of May in that year he denounced in Parliament the violence and the frauds by which the Fascists had falsified the electoral results during the general election of the preceding month. For two hours he braved the clamor and insults of the Fascist majority, declaring that it had no right to represent the Italian people politically or morally. On June 4, on the authority of Professor Salvemini, the eminent Italian historian, formerly of the University of Florence, Matteotti "silenced the Dictator Mussolini in person by showing that Mussolini had approved of the amnesty that had been granted to deserters from the army in 1919—approval which Mussolini denied having given." When he left the chamber that day Matteotti said to his fellow member, Cossatini, "now you may prepare my funeral oration." Ten days afterwards he was "suppressed."

Much testimony has been produced to show that Mussolini knew what was taking place. This "extract from the evidence of Cesare Rossi, who was Mussolini's most intimate associate and right hand man for ten years, is, to say the least, illuminating:

"Towards 11.30 on the morning of Wednesday, June 11, I was told by someone whom I will not name that Dumini and some others had abducted Matteotti, and as this same person told me that Filippelli had provided a car for the abduction, I went to see Filippelli. He did not deny having provided the car since he had been asked to do so on my behalf and on behalf of the Prime Minister (Mussolini). I did not succeed in speaking to the Prime Minister during the rest of the day."

In his memorandum on June 11 Filippelli wrote, among other things, "that the Prime Minister knew everything." It was possible, of course, for Mussolini so to arrange the trials of those who were arrested as a sop to public opinion so that justice should be tempered with a very large dose of mercy. How he did it, and thus escaped involvement himself, is a matter of history.

It is none the less interesting to recall what the Prime Minister said in the Chamber of Deputies during the course of a verbal combat between himself and the Socialists on June 6, 1924—four days before Matteotti was kidnapped. Here are his words:

"We have admirable teachers in Russia. We have but to imitate what is being done in Russia. They are admirable masters. We are wrong not to follow their example completely. Otherwise you would now be doing hard-labor instead of being here."

Uproar and applause followed this outburst and Socialist Gennari retorted: "We are just out of prison, and we are ready to go back there for the sake of what we believe." Back came Mussolini with this: "You would have got a charge of lead in the back. We do not lack courage as we will show you SOONER THAN YOU THINK."

Our correspondent no doubt will be able to judge for himself from these one or two authentic accounts of what took place before and after the murder of Matteotti as to whether we were on safe ground in saying that the assassin helped Mussolini at the outset. We can also add that if Mussolini had attempted one fraction of what he has done in Italy in a British country he would have faced a jury.

NOT BAD AT THAT

ONE OR TWO NEWSPAPERS WHICH opposed the Liberal Party during the election campaign which came to an end on Tuesday are now feeling much more satisfied with the prospect of stable government at Ottawa. The Vancouver Province says Canada "will expect stability instead of vacillation, action instead of stagnation, movement instead of stasis."

There is point in the expectation of these conditions. But only a very few people will worry over the supposed "stagnation" of the last year. It is true that Mr. Mackenzie King's Government was not as free to move as the next one he will form will be able to move. It was necessary to do a little bargaining from time to time in order to obtain the passage of legislation which the Liberal Party conceived to be in the interests of the country as a whole. In fact the recent session of Parliament was one of the most fertile in constructive legislation in the last fifteen years.

That legislation, by the way, included substantial reduction in taxation, particularly in respect of the income tax, the lowering of duties on automobiles, while the Government was especially active in defending the attacks of the Opposition on the Australian Treaty. So that if there was not enough action for our Mainland contemporary, the term "stagnation"—in the light of what was accomplished during the last session—would appear to be too strong a term to apply to actual conditions. However, the new Government which will come into being at an early date will be in a position to continue its policies and do its part towards increasing the prosperity which the country had begun to enjoy under its administration.

In any event, "stable," as applied to the authority of a government, is much simpler to understand than "stable" as applied to the Conservative tariff policy.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WONDERS OF SCIENCE

From The Chicago Tribune.

The two great remaining terrors of the sea are fog and fire. The organization of the modern ship has greatly reduced the latter hazard, but fog still mazes its perils and invention has not yet been able to cope satisfactorily with them. But we have news of a process of photography through mist and smoke which may open the way to a substantial security.

Army experts in aerial photography, improving a process invented by the Eastman Kodak Company, are able to take photographs not only at great distances but through mist and smoke screens. The importance of this for war is obvious, but if the process can be perfected so that thick fog can be penetrated, and that seems probable, it should be possible to invent a mechanism which will locate objects at sea, by day at least, and will decrease the dangers of collision.

In an age which has discovered the X-ray and the fluoroscope it is not difficult to believe in the possibility of seeing through fog and smoke. It is becoming difficult to disbelieve anything in the field of material science, invention and discovery. For one generation the faculty of wonder is almost exhausted.

AN IMPERIAL VIEW

From The Toronto Globe.

Nothing could have been more simply or happily expressed than the assurances given on the opening day of the Canadian National Exhibition by Diwan Bahadur, the distinguished Indian visitor, who was the principal guest of the occasion, that the tie connecting Great Britain and India is a substantial and cordial one—a tie not to be severed, but one promising to increase in strength and endurance as the years go by. Coming from a man of authority and standing in his own country such as the Diwan, it was the best answer to the reports emanating from other sources that the prevailing sentiment in India is one of discontent with British rule and of desire for the severance of the Imperial connection. It is vital to Great Britain and to the Empire as a whole not only that India should remain within the circle of the British Dominions, but that she should so remain, happy and confident in the belief that that association offers her the best assurance for a future in which her people will continue to prosper and work out their destiny in common with the rest of the Dominions. To create this confidence Great Britain has labored unremittingly, and that success has attended her efforts the unqualified declaration of this highly cultured and widely informed native of India offers the best of evidence.

Do You Mean What You Say?

The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines

Most of us understand the word "crawfishing" as a reference to a withdrawal from a protracted course of action—backing out, in other words. The word has taken on this meaning through the peculiar method of catching the crab family walks backward, and always appears to be backing away from something. In the case of the part of humans, therefore, are labeled with the term, "crawfishing."

AT THE TAIL-END

To the Editor:—Victoria has remained true to her traditions. She holds her old place at the tail-end of progress.

Fortunately for the people of this Province the rest of Canada has spoken in unmistakable terms, and told British Columbia that she will have prosperity during the next four or five years, whether she wants it or not.

DUTY

To the Editor:—I am not asking Victorians from a religious standpoint to help in building the Cathedral, for it goes without saying that persons will aid in every way. It is to those who may be indifferent in religious matters that I wish to appeal strongly, that they may give freely to help the good work and thereby assist in securing the lasting benefit the town will receive from the undertaking.

Speaking particularly as a property-holder, I consider that we owe a duty to ourselves to aid as best we can afford, even if it be ever so little in the way of giving to the cathedral city of this wonderful province.

THE LONDON DAILY HERALD AND RUSSIAN MONEY

To the Editor:—"R.D." in The Daily Colonist of July 9, says in the course of his criticism of a letter of mine on the subject of "Our Guild," that The London Daily Herald has been charged with accepting money from Russia.

In London at The Daily Herald office I obtained the following statement, dated August 10, 1926, and signed by the editor, Hamilton Eyre: "Dear Mr. Hewitt in respect to your enquiry, I have pleasure in assuring you that The Daily Herald has never, either in 1920 or at any time since, received or made use of any Russian money."

I also obtained a statement from the foreign editor of The Daily Herald, W. N. Ewer, that The Herald had not taken Russian money.

As The Colonist did not publish my reply in "R.D." I have sent these statements to a friend in Victoria with the view of getting an open letter to "R.D." printed and distributed in Victoria, on my return.

WANTS PROOFS

To the Editor:—In the issue of your paper of September 10, under the caption, "Not All Roads Lead to Rome," the following referring to Premier Mussolini of Italy:

"The assassin helped him at the outset. That he began to get him into trouble, and he changed his tactics." Does your paper mean that Premier Mussolini's habit was to have "his assassin murdered" and that, some time, having found that this practice was getting him into trouble (what kind of trouble?), he abandoned it and turned to other means? If this is what your paper really means you have doubtless solid proofs of what you assert. (As I cannot imagine that any honest person would publicly accuse anybody of habitual murder unless having irrefutable proofs in his possession. If, therefore, you have the proofs why not publish them? I think they would be of interest to, well, a good many people.)

I trust that you will publish my letter, and shall be anxiously awaiting your next issue.

SYLVANIA SCHOOL

To the Editor:—In your issue of September 8 Mr. R. Dick of Shawinigan Lake writes what he terms an "open-letter-relating to matters general at Sylvania School." I have been requested to reply.

At the time Mr. Dick was asked to allow his child to attend Sylvania School two teachers were in attendance, with scarcely enough pupils to warrant continuance of two instructors. Later, when one room had been closed, it was deemed desirable that his little girl attend a school in the school district in which he resides, where two teachers were employed.

From the inauguration of the Sylvania School until the present teachers took office the janitor work was done by those of the elder pupils who cared to take part, in turn, as arranged by the teacher in charge of the school, the idea being to permit the senior scholars, who wished, to receive at the end of each month a small sum of money, for which they had given value in services rendered—thus promoting thriftiness in the children. The arrangement worked out in practice exceedingly well. However, the present teacher absorbs the whole sum ($100 per annum), the children taking no part in the work—unless voluntarily.

As to six children not in attendance for one year, and still refusing to attend, I am permitted to offer as an explanation that the family consider that they have not been fairly treated by the present teacher; that the children have been discriminated against to such an extent that they do not consider it safe for them to attend the school while the present teacher is in office. The parents would welcome prosecution under Section 159 of the School Act, and have stated publicly at the last annual school meeting, as a means of obtaining an impartial hearing before an unprejudiced tribunal. Both the principal of the school and her subordinate have called and personally tendered their apologies to the parents of the children. This kindly act is appreciated, but confidence has not been restored.

It is an unfortunate circumstance that this condition of affairs is permitted to continue. Parents with nine robust and exceptionally intelligent sons, thrifty and law-abiding, are unable to avail themselves of an up-to-date school, only a step's throw from their door. What is to be done about it?

I thank Mr. Dick for his alertness in directing attention to an appalling condition of affairs, where human weakness in adults are depriving six little children of an heritage they can never regain.

THE NEW CATHEDRAL

To the Editor:—May I be permitted to lay before your readers what (so I believe) the new cathedral merits the support of non-Anglicans as well as members co-operated very closely with this movement also last year. It is encouraging to report that though the general strike had a drastic effect upon the value of this year's efforts, we received from principal Chamber of Commerce in the United Kingdom, speaking very highly of the movement, and an assurance of further co-operation for future years.

POPULARIZING CANADA'S PRODUCTS

Having regard to the great future of this work the council of the chamber approached those members interested and formed a committee under the chairmanship of Arthur J. Mills, C.B.E., well known in Canada and England in the produce trade. This committee will prosecute every channel of distribution and every effort will be made by them to assist in the necessity of proclaiming throughout the United Kingdom "information relating" to Canadian products.

The Canadian Chamber in London was formed five years ago under the presidency of Sir George McLaren Brown, K.B.E., European general manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was succeeded by William Phillips, who at that time was European general manager for the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Phillips, on his return to Montreal, was succeeded by Herbert J. Hole, the present president. Mr. Hole has been closely identified with Canadian affairs for the past twenty-five years, having represented the firm of Taylor-Forbes, Guelph, Ont., whose president, J. M. Taylor, is now president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

ENGLISH FACTORY OWNERS TO OUR COMMON SENSE

London Secretary of Canadian Chamber of Commerce Makes Plans

Co-operation of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in entering British industrialists and securing all information desired to place before them when they visit Victoria was assured G. H. Ward, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London, on his visit to this city.

Mr. Ward has visited several points in Canada in connection with the proposed tour of British manufacturers to study means of building up trade between Canada and England. Consideration will also be given to the establishment of branch factories in this country.

EXPORT OPPORTUNITIES

"The United Kingdom offers an exceptional opportunity for those interested in export trade," said Mr. Ward. "Quite naturally it is a market that commands an exhaustive study, many difficulties must be overcome, consideration must be given to competition, the best way alone it would be quite possible to say a great deal. It is quite reasonable to suggest that of recent years the British Government has been fully alive to the fact that Empire products must be given careful choice, as a result of which Mr. Baldwin's Government has introduced certain amendments to the Merchandise Marks Act, also as a result of the finding of the Imperial Economic Committee, the Empire Marketing Board has been set into operation. These two factors alone will do much to assist the Canadian exporter."

Two years ago, during the period of the British Empire Exhibition, Col. L. M. Cogswave, the assistant trade commissioner, organized the "Window Displays of Canadian Food Products." It is not possible to estimate the value of this class of publicity among the consumers. My chamber co-operated very closely with this movement also last year. It is encouraging to report that though the general strike had a drastic effect upon the value of this year's efforts, we received from principal Chamber of Commerce in the United Kingdom, speaking very highly of the movement, and an assurance of further co-operation for future years.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SOME QUESTIONS ON MILK

Q. R.R.S. writes: My baby is ten months old and is weaned. He seems to like his milk and it agrees with him. I give him four bottles a day, consisting of six ounces of milk, two of vegetable water and one tablespoon of sugar. Please answer the following questions for me: My dairy supplies four kinds of milk, pasteurized, Guernsey, nursery and certified. What is the difference between pasteurized and certified milk? Is it necessary to boil milk? How old must the baby be before he can take whole undiluted milk? Should I give him curdled, cereal, etc. before or after his bottle?

degree of heat, held at that degree and then cooled. Milk treated in this manner has the advantage of having no dangerous bacteria which might be present in the milk, rendered harmless. Most physicians agree that raw milk, in cities, and especially during the summer months, had best be boiled for three minutes. This is true of pasteurized milk as well. There are so many conditions which might arise upon the milk, or cause bacteria to grow in it, after it has been pasteurized or bottled, that during the hot weather one feels safer if one boils all milk.

It is a mistake to pour boiling vegetable water into the milk, unless you do this just as you are giving the milk to the baby. Never put anything hot in milk. Always cool the water, vegetable water, or anything else before adding it to the milk. As soon as the temperature of the milk is raised, bacteria present in it begin to thrive and increase. You can see then how necessary it is to keep milk ice-cold until ready to use. So to summarize all these answers I should say that even if you use the best milk, certified, in the summer it is safer to boil it until such time as the hot weather makes the dangers of spoiling during transportation negligible.

The baby can take whole milk at one year. Give the cereal before the bottle. You can use part of the formula over the cereal and the remainder to drink.

Premature Baby
A baby born two months prematurely would continue to be two months behind in its development, consider now that he is six instead of eight months old and treat him accordingly.

There are more than 3,000 animals in the London zoo. The collections were started 189 years ago with a vulture and an eagle.

PRETTY WEDDING AT PATRICIA BAY

Popular Couple Married Wednesday at Holy Trinity Church

Special to The Times

Sidney, Sept. 16—A very pretty wedding took place at Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, on Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon, when Nellie, the eldest daughter of Captain and Mrs. E. Livesey of East Road, became the bride of Henry George Horth, the youngest son of the late Mr. Horth and Mrs. Horth of Deep Bay. The church which was crowded had been prettily decorated with white, mauve and pastel pink asters and ferns by the members of the girls' auxiliary. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Keeling. The bride who was given away by her father, Captain Livesey looked lovely in a beautiful dress of white georgette trimmed with silver lace. She wore a coronet of Russian cap style with orange blossoms and a French net veil embroidered in silk and orange blossoms falling at the back. The only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of opelia roses, carnations and white heather with long white ribbon streamers.

The bride's sister Miss Amy Livesey was maid of honor and looked charming in love bird green georgette over silk trimmed with flesh colored tulle and a picture hat with flesh colored tulle and carried an arm bouquet of pink asters and maiden hair fern. The bridegroom's niece, Miss Dorothy Calvert, was bridesmaid and looked very pretty in pink georgette over silk with a silver band trimmed with rosebuds on her head and carried an arm bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Little Miss Marjory Horth, a niece of the bridegroom, was a sweet flower girl in a frilled mauve georgette frock and silver band trimmed with rosebuds on her head, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. William Horth. Miss Margaret Cochran played the organ. During the signing of the register Mr. Douglas Horth sang "Because." The ushers were Mr. Elmer John and Mr. J. Copithorne. The relations and friends of the couple then went to the wedding breakfast, which was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Livesey, who looked handsome in purple nylon with black picture hat and an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums helped the happy couple, who stood under a large floral bell, received the guests. The dining-room was prettily decorated in pink mauve and white streamers, and baskets of flowers of the same colors were on the tables. The bride couple sat under a large floral horseshoe. A handsome three-tiered wedding cake was in the centre of the table, and was cut by the bride. The toast to bride and bridegroom was proposed by Mr. Horner. The bridegroom suitably responded. The toast to the bridesmaid was given by Mr. William Horth. The Rev. W. Keeling proposed a toast to Capt. and Mrs. Livesey and Mr. Sammy Jones a toast to the bridegroom. Mr. J. Copithorne gave the bride a toast. Mr. Douglas Horth sang in his fine voice, "Dawning" and "Macaulay," and Mrs. J. Copithorne sang "The Bird Song." The happy couple left on the afternoon boat for Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride's going away dress was fawn trimmed with rose and a rose French tulle coat trimmed with gold and hat to match. On their return they will reside at Deep Bay.

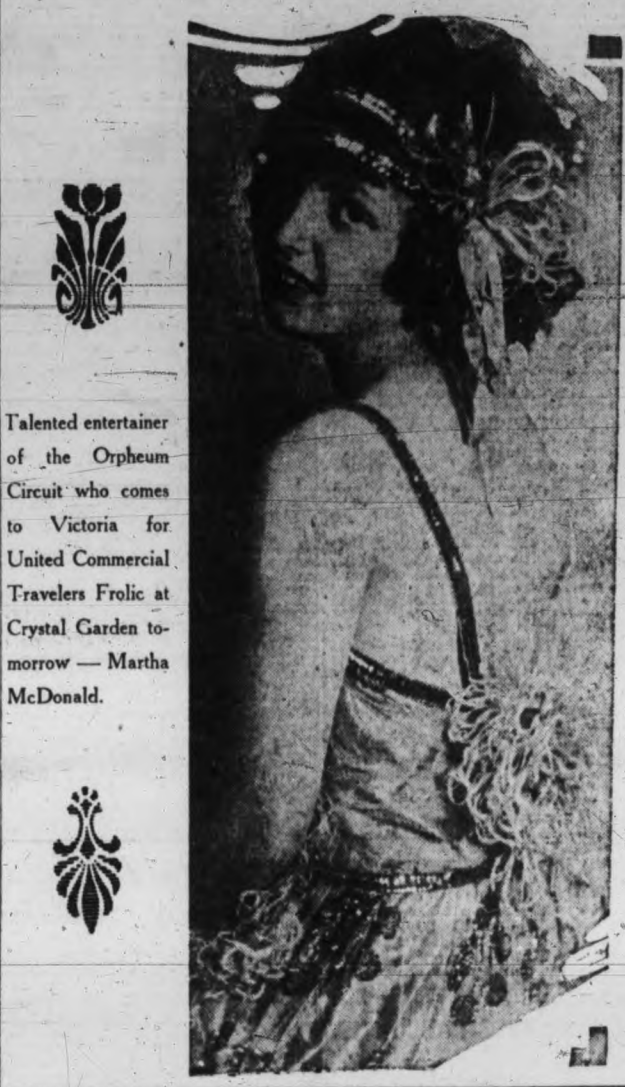

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a fitch fur, to the maid of honor a silver purse, to the bridesmaid a silver bangle, to the flower girl a signet ring, and to the best man a tie pin. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a fountain pen. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Horth, looked very pleasing in black satin and hat-to-match and a bouquet of many asters. Many handsome and useful presents were displayed, amongst them being a beautiful breakfast set from the bridegroom's partner, Mr. Jones, a silver cake basket from the members of the Girls' Auxiliary, and a handsome silver casserole dish and knife from the girls of the Sidney Telephone office, where the bride was for several years an employee.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Livesey of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Moss of Edmonton, Miss Edna Thomas of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horner, Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Copithorne, Mr. and Mrs. Horth, Mr. and Mrs. L. Horth, Mr. and Mrs. R. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Vigilius of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Horth, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. F. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. D. Horth, Miss Nellie Horth of Seattle, Mr. William Horth of Courtenay, Mr. and Mrs. S. Jones of Victoria, Mr. T. Savary, the Rev. and Mrs. W. Keeling, Miss Keeling, Mr. Keeling, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer John, Miss Edna John, Mrs. Lorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Copithorne, Miss Enos, Misses Annie and Kate Lorenson, Miss Pait, Mrs. McIntyre, Miss M. Cochran, Messrs. R. and William Bewick.

At 6 o'clock in the evening the girl friends of the bride were entertained by Capt. and Mrs. Livesey to supper, and a jolly evening was spent in games and music.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held their monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, the president, Mrs. Chambers, in the chair. Letters of thanks were read from the parent body for help in making the opening of the new rooms a success; also for furnishing the curtains and floor covering. The auxiliary has decided to hold a fall tea and home cooking stall on October 7 at 3 o'clock. The Canadian Legion Aid committee will commence their winter drives very soon. Arrangements are being made to hold them in the new assembly room in Courtney Street. The date of opening will be duly announced.

TRAVELERS BRING TALENTED ARTISTS FOR GREAT FROLIC

Smart Entertainers From the Orpheum Circuit Arrive Tomorrow

What promises to be one of the most successful entertainments staged at the Crystal Garden since opening, will be held there to-morrow evening, when members of the local lodge, No. 434, of the United Commercial Travelers' Association will act as hosts at a frolic for which they have obtained talent from the Orpheum Circuit, comprising the high-class entertainers, known as the Lido Entertainers.

This aggregation of clever artists is composed of Martha McDonald, ballet dancer, Lucille Johnson, a ballad singer, Miss Ethel Byre, "Blues" singer, Frankie Willman, acrobatic dancer, Maurice and Louise, duo tango, Italian and the Richardson Twins, dainty step-dancers.

During the evening these entertainers will give their programme on the three floors, where dancing will take place, thus affording all the guests an opportunity of seeing and hearing the entertainers. In the banquet hall, a miniature cabaret has been arranged and the swimming pool will also be available for those desirous of indulging in this sport.

The proceeds of the frolic will go towards financing a convention of the United Commercial Travelers that will be held in Victoria in June of next year, for which it is expected between 1,500 and 2,000 delegates will be present, representing the associations of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

Victorians attending this frolic are assured of an evening's amusement and will be assisting by their presence an organization that is an asset to Victoria.

DR. ANNIE BESANT DENIES STATEMENT

No Evidence to Supported Reported Claim to Vice-royalty

Vancouver, Sept. 16—That she claims no vice-royalty for "The King of the World" is the statement of Dr. Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical Society, in a letter published to-day in the Vancouver Free Press, here which published an interview with her last Monday.

The letter says in part: "I do not often correct misstatements made in any newspaper, but there is one statement made to you by J. E. McCreedy, president of the Vancouver Lodge of the Theosophical Society and Dr. J. E. Wilke, secretary of the Orpheum Lodge of the society, which puts into my mouth what is, to me, a very terrible blasphemy, which I must ask you to allow me to contradict."

TO FORM OPINIONS
"I will not trouble you with any discussion as to my views on the question of the World Teacher. I have lectured on that in your town, and people must form their own opinion as to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of my views. "No member of the Theosophical Society is in any way bound to accept them."

"The above gentlemen put into my mouth a statement of a claim which they rightly characterize as 'amazing'—that I am the 'mouth-piece and viceroy on earth of the King of the World, whoever he may be.' They rightly say this claim is totally unsupported by any evidence whatsoever. The statement that I have ever made such a claim is equally unsupported by any evidence. I need hardly say I have never dreamed of making such a claim."

Miss Audrey Tripp entertained at a farewell tea yesterday at her home on Yale Street in honor of Miss Jean Gibson who left to-day with her parents on a trip around the world. Denism, when the following children were present: Sybil and Rolie Suzannet, Gwyneth Thomas, Jack and Baby Smith, Carey and Patsy Wilfree, Julia and Barbara Cartwright, Valeria Robinson, Jane Cudemore, Cynthia Boldero, Kythe McKenzie, Baily Acland, Graham Chambers and John Mara. A number of the mothers of the little guests were present and at the tea hour Lady Barnard, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. B. Ackland and Mrs. Hepburn were also present.

A delightful time was spent by 150 children of St. Barnabas' Sunday School on Saturday afternoon and evening last when they were treated to a garden party instead of the usual picnic at the beach. The affair was held in the church grounds and various competitions and sports took place for which prizes were given. During the evening Frank Merryfield the local conjuror, amused the children with many of his mysterious tricks and they enjoyed seeing him turn white rats into chocolates, paper ribbons into flags and produce bologna sausage from the jersey of one of the boys. Mr. Merryfield was assisted by his little daughter Violet who gave a clever exhibition of mind reading.

Children's Gala To Precede Dominion Affair At Garden

Canadian Championships Postponed Until Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 8

School Children to Frolic at Crystal Garden on Oct. 15; Interest is Keen

Owing to the fact that officials of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association in Montreal have been tardy in replying to the request of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club for two Dominion indoor swimming championships, the gala which was to have been held at the Crystal Garden on October 12 has been postponed until Thanksgiving Day, November 8.

Officers of the V.A.S.C. are anxious to make the gala, which is to be held at the Crystal Garden, a big affair, and they decided that the hour was getting late and it would be best to postpone the event for a few weeks. The V.A.S.C. intend to have Eastern as well as Coast swimmers here for the gala, and considerable time has been allowed in order that they may make arrangements to come.

In reality this will only mean a switching of the dates of the gala which the V.A.S.C. had planned. The school children's gala will be brought ahead to Friday, October 15. This will be the second annual gala of its kind, and promises to be an exceptionally attractive affair. The teachers at the various schools are taking an active part in encouraging the children, and it is expected that the records set up last year will be broken.

LIFE-SAVING
The V.A.S.C. weekly club night at the Crystal Garden last night was attended by eighty members of the club, as well as a number of outsiders who availed themselves of the instruction.

"Jack" McNeill and Dave Balnave examined a life-saving class of eight, prepared by Ralph Alcock, last night. All the contestants won the bronze medal of the Royal Life-Saving Society and are now preparing for the "A" and "B" classes. Miss Grace Wellburn is preparing a class of youngsters in the "proficiency test" instruction, which will be given every Wednesday evening.

GOOD DIVING
There was some splendid diving at the Garden last night. The V.A.S.C. is also coaching in this department and three splendid divers were present. With a little coaching it is expected that they will be able to hold their own in any competition on the Coast. Victoria has not, in the past, been very well equipped with divers. The V.A.S.C. will inaugurate a series of club handicaps, commencing next Wednesday. The series will continue until Christmas, and prizes will then be awarded to the swimmers scoring the most points. The handicaps will be run under the supervision of Dave Balnave, club handicapper, and V. J. Dunn. Other events will be put on at the request of the members.

Fine Asphalt Courts At High School Are Opened; Great Asset

Proctor, Cunningham, Fairbairn and Hocking Play Exhibition Games

Under the organization of J. G. Brown and Bud Hocking two exhibition games of tennis were played on the new courts of the Victoria High School yesterday afternoon. These games mark the opening of the courts, which will be a great asset to the school, and will encourage the playing of tennis by the students of the High School. The first game was a singles match between Fairbairn and Hocking, the former winning 6-4, 6-2. The second match was a doubles between Fairbairn and Cunningham, and Hocking and Proctor. Fairbairn and Cunningham were victorious.

The exhibition was witnessed by about 400 students, as well as many guests. The play was very fast and the shots accurate throughout.

The guests of the afternoon were served refreshments in the lunchroom of the High School after the games.

Among those present were W. C. Morey, Alex. Peden, George Jay, H. G. Litchfield, W. M. Walker, and all members of the City School Board; Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Elliott and many others.

Monthly Medal Games At Oak Bay To Start

The first of the monthly week-end competitions of the Victoria Golf Club for the season will be played at Oak Bay on Saturday, September 18. It will consist of a medal round, 18 holes, and the full handicap will be allowed. The entrance fee will be fifty cents and two prizes will be awarded. Post entries will be received.

There will be six weekly competitions, medal play and match play alternating, and the overall of the series the six winners will play off for the six-hole medal play, for a prize.

Hopes Prince Will 'Take Modest Wager' On Heavyweight King

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 16.—William Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, yesterday paid $5,111 to cable the Prince of Wales. The challenger's manager cabled that Tunney will win. He said that Jack Dempsey will defeat Gene Tunney. Gibson offered to "make a modest wager" with the Prince that Tunney will win. He used the remainder of the $5,111 in cabling that his Royal Highness, the Prince, will not be at the ring-side "to see the new champion crowned."

Local and Oak Bay High School Rugby Teams Are Lining Up

Coach Smith Has Only Three of His Last Year's Champions Left This Season

Oak Bay Confident They Will Give Local Boys Their Hardest Battles Yet

With only three of last year's first rugby fifteen left Coach Harry Smith, of the Victoria High School, will need to form practically an entirely new squad. This is no easy matter, as the team must defend the title of High School Champions of British Columbia. There is an adequate supply of material but the greater part of it is raw. Last year's second team will provide some players for the seniors, but a mighty pack will have to be picked.

At the first rugby meeting of the season yesterday afternoon Coach Smith pointed out that a good team could only be put in the field if the players got down to early and diligent practice. He said that in the past year the school could field a team equally as strong as that of last year, which distinguished itself so admirably in the Thompson Cup series.

GET EARLY START
Although the grounds are still as hard as rock the first practice is being held this afternoon and about thirty youngsters are turning out.

Victoria are anxious to be in fine form by the time of their clashes with their old rivals, Oak Bay High School. Last year these teams fought a thrilling contest in the Thompson Cup series, each winning one of the "contests." Victoria took the series on points scored and won the right to meet, and incidentally defeat, the King George High School of Vancouver. That was the first time Victoria had won the Thompson Cup, and the first time local boys had thrashed a Vancouver high school team in twenty-five years.

ON THEIR TOES
Oak Bay is going right out after the coveted trophy this year, too. A coach of the suburban squad questioned recently was loath to say much of his team's chances.

"But I will say this," he smiled, "that we expect to give Victoria one of the hardest runs they ever had. We're getting down to business."

There is a great amount of interest in the games. The school's high school rugby was very fine. For clean sportsmanship and keen playing, the men who wore school sweaters won an enviable reputation. The boys who play this year are preparing to uphold it.

Pirates Falter But Other Leaders Keep Up Feverish Gallop

Cincinnati Hold Lead of Half-game Ahead of St. Louis in National League

Chicago Cubs Practically Counted Out by Boston, the Trouble Makers

New York, Sept. 16.—The National League pennant scramble continues at a feverish pace with Cincinnati maintaining a half-game edge on first place over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bill McKechnie's champion Pirates faltered in their attempt to overhaul the leaders and were set back to three and one-half games from the top by giving way to Brooklyn.

New York now leads the American League by six and a half games and can win the championship by taking four of five games to play with the Indians.

Possibility of the outcome in the National remains in doubt up to the final game.

Loose playing by the Brooklyn Robins was of great aid to the Yankees because they chalked up their fifth straight of the series against Brooklyn 7-1.

Four run rallies in the fourth and eighth innings enabled the St. Louis Cards to dispose of the Phillies easily by 9-2 in the first combat of the series. Jess Haines was batted for 11 batters but he tightened up at crucial periods to prevent a score.

Jack Scott of New York tacked a six-to-five defeat on the Pirates in their farewell meeting at the Polo Grounds.

STILL MAKING TROUBLE
Running true to form as trouble makers, the Chicago Cubs out of the mathematical figuring as far as annexation hopes were concerned by beating both games of a double-header.

Jack Scott of New York tacked a six-to-five defeat on the Pirates in their farewell meeting at the Polo Grounds.

MAIN SPOKES IN WHEEL OF YANKS

Here are the main spokes in the wheel of the Yankees, pace-setters in the American League gonfalon gallop and almost certain pennant victors.

Babe Ruth, as you know, is having one of the greatest seasons of his illustrious career. He's been playing a fine all-around game, though his work afield has generally been soft-pedaled because of his ability at the plate.

Herb Penneck and Urban Shocker, pitching veterans, have blazed a remarkable trail of triumphs, both ranking with the leading hurlers in the circuit. Lou Gehrig, young first-sacker, has been one of the mainstays in the Yankee attack, and stands a good chance of beating out his teammate, Ruth, for run-scoring honors of the league.

Bob Meusel, up until the time he was put out of the game due to injuries, had done much to start the Huggins entourage on its winning current of hostility.

Yet Dempsey says he has fought only once against an opponent whom he took an animal-like delight in beating. The third round of the fight was a snarl of action. Dempsey leaps to the attack with a ferocity that seems born of a deep understanding of hostility.

When the layman tosses a set of bell-rings to his neighbor he does so because he has become provoked to a point of fury. It's hard for him to understand the innermost feeling of professional nose-busters bring to their business.

It's particularly hard for him to understand the strange contrasting emotions of Jack Dempsey, mild-mannered out of the ring, yet a snarling savage in action. Dempsey leaps to the attack with a ferocity that seems born of a deep understanding of hostility.

JONES HAS TO PLAY GREAT GOLF TO GAIN LEAD ON C. EVANS

Short Hills, Sept. 16.—Bobby Jones, defending his title as national amateur champion in the third round at Baltusrol to-day, led Chick Evans of Chicago, 2 up at the end of the first 18 holes of their 36-hole battle.

The veteran Chicago star gave the Atlanta marvel a sensational battle all the way, and it was only by posting a brilliant round of 70, two under par, that Bobby was able to gain his advantage over the former titleholder. Evans went around in 74.

Victoria Eleven To Be Picked To-night To Oppose Saviour's

New Representative Team Expected to do Well in First P.C.F.L. Match Here

Four Clubs to Play in Wednesday Football League; Officers Elected

In order to put the finishing touches to their training before their opening game on Saturday members of the Victoria City football team will work out this evening at 7.30 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. Every player who has signed with the club or any others who are interested, are invited to attend and go through their paces.

George Pickering, the trainer, will be in charge, while Hughie Pettigrew, the manager, will be in charge of the selection committee, which will be on hand to give the boys a couple of once-overs.

Officials of the Victoria City Club are making no preliminary announcements as to what club will take the field on Saturday to oppose the St. Saviour's at the Royal Athletic Park. After the work-out to-night the selection committee will go into conference and pick the team.

The Victoria City Club will have the backbone of the Veterans of last year. Several other players have been signed. It is understood, however, that a young player of prominence, is here and one or two other up-Island men are anxious to catch paces.

At least four elevens will play in the Wednesday Soccer League this season. This was decided at a meeting of the league held in the Tillamook Athletic Club last night, when a quartette of teams filed in.

These were as follows: Hudson's Bay; Rennie and Taylor's; Tillamook's; and the Navy. All these teams were in competition for the mid-week cup last year. The Hudson's Bay winning the coveted Hayward trophy. Two of last year's teams, Garrison and Kirkham's, have not entered the league.

Entries will be received until September 23, but, as far as can be ascertained, neither the Garrison or the Navy will go into competition. There has been talk of other elevens, as there are a number of players anxious to play who will not be able to get on teams already formed.

Fourteen new teams have signed up a number of players from the Garrison and Kirkham's, so that keen competition can be expected throughout the season.

F. B. Richardson was elected president of the league at last night's meeting, and S. Thomas secretary. Entries may be filed with the secretary, 513 Cook Street, or at the next meeting of the league on September 22.

PLAY IN TWO WEEKS
Play will officially commence on September 29. The contesting teams have not yet been decided, as no schedule has been drawn up.

An exhibition game between the Navy and a pick-up side will be played next Wednesday at the Royal Athletic, commencing at 3 o'clock. McMillan will referee.

Jimmy Adam, British Columbia's representative at the meeting of the Dominion Football Association in Toronto, returned from the East yesterday full of praise for the Dominion Association, which is flourishing financially. He paid a tribute to Sam Davidson, the secretary, who he said, is largely responsible for the fine state of affairs.

Dempsey As Good As When He Flattened Willard, Says Expert

Although Off in Timing and Easing Off in His Speed Champ Looked Good

Tunney Cancels Workout in Order Not to Reduce His Weight Too Much

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 16.—In the presence of a hundred or more newspaper correspondents and cameramen huddled around the ringside, Jack Dempsey yesterday engaged in his first semi-private workout with the gates of the Greyhound Racing Track closed to the public.

The day was dull and so chilly that the ring was covered on two sides with a canvas wall to protect the world's champion from the chilling blasts sweeping off the ocean. Dempsey worked in full length green tights, with a jersey to match, as added protection.

He took things rather easy, boxing the usual five rounds in addition to a round apiece on the light and heavy bags and four on the shadow boxing before calling it a day.

THINK JACK'S ALL RIGHT
Dempsey appeared to be off in the timing of his punches and his work lacked the dash and fire that characterized previous sessions. His showing, however, was sufficiently impressive to merit the approval of a dozen or more qualified experts.

Among them was Jack McCalliffe and Benny Leonard, two of the world's retired champions, and a host of the world's referees, Jack Skelly, an old time lightweight, and Matt Hinkley, a former heavyweight and sportsman, of Cleveland.

Hinkley said Dempsey looked the same to him as he did on the day when he had beaten Joe Willard, a helpless hulk in Toledo seven years ago.

Dempsey boxed two rounds apiece with Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia and Max Baer of New York, with a round with Benny Krueger, announced as light heavyweight champion of Germany.

Loughran, a tough and out-generaled Dempsey as hard last Saturday. He kept him off balance and out of range with lefts to the face and occasional dropped punches. A right cross, Dempsey apparently wanted Loughran to lead so he could practice getting away from the Philadelphia's thrust and weave in close to hook his left to the body.

NO SOLID BLOWS
Dempsey was unable to connect solidly while boxing with Loughran except when he crowded him into the ropes and cut loose with short rights and lefts to the body at short quarters.

Burke was not so formidable. His nose was bleeding within 30 seconds. Dempsey easily could have won the light heavyweight title of Germany if he had chosen to cut loose against Krueger. He doubled him up with a left hook to the stomach and knocked him into a corner with a right and left to the head.

Instead of barring the newspaper correspondents from the workouts after to-day, Dempsey decided to admit them, except on next Tuesday. He probably intends to step the full distance of ten rounds on that day, and wants to try himself out in strict privacy.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 16.—Discovery that he was on the very verge of his fighting weight caused Gene Tunney to refrain from boxing yesterday. He expected to spend a busy afternoon in the ring. It was understood that Tunney weighed only 187 pounds when he had come to the city from his home in New York. As he expects to enter the championship sequel ring against Dempsey at 186 pounds, he promptly decided that he would not box. A normal period of boxing would have brought him below his fighting weight.

In lieu of the ring activities, the challenger left with his volunteer coach, George Ransberry, for the Ransberry hunting and fishing camp, twenty-two miles from the Delbrook Country Club. As the Ransberry camp is in the heart of the Poconos, Tunney was safe in seclusion there. Only a guide could pilot visitors to him. In retirement, he expected to put on enough weight to insure him against encroachment on his margin. He wishes to keep some pounds in reserve.

A big crowd had assembled and the announcement that there would be no boxing did not take at first and the prospective spectators were slow to depart. This sudden change in programme was the real reason why Tunney and Gibson were not charged to see the workouts. Gibson explained that Tunney is conditioning himself for the championship boxing bout and knows quite well when he should work and cannot permit the gate to influence his plans.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Twelve heavyweights and light-heavyweights will engage in six six-round bouts as preliminaries to the contest between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney here on September 23.

France's Four Aces Pitted Against The "Big Four" of U.S.
Great Matches Looked For in Fight For American Singles Tennis Title

Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept. 16.—America's tennis "Big Four" once again faces the challenge of France's four Aces, this time with the national singles championship at stake.

Surviving the third round of the title tournament at the West Side Club stadium yesterday, the four American Aces went on into the quarter finals to-morrow against the same opponents they turned back in the Davis Cup challenge round last week.

Tilden's battle in defence of the crown he has won for the past six years found him extended for the longest straight day, carried to the full limit of five sets by Arnold W. Jones, of Providence.

The champion will meet his biggest test to-day, however, for his opponent, Cretchet, in downing the hard hitting New Yorker, Francis T. Hunter, yesterday at 4-6, 6-3, 6-6, 6-3, flashed a volleying game of unusual brilliance.

Brugnon was the only one of the Frenchmen to be really extended and it took him five stirring sets to check Dr. George King of New York by a score of 6-3, 6-3, 7-9, 6-7, 6-1.

Borotra and Lacoste both seemed at the top of their game. The "Bourgeois" Baque, vanquished the intercollegiate champion, Edward G. Chandler of California, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, while Lacoste, although dropping a set, easily proved himself master of M. Alonso of Spain, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Jack Hobbs Premier Batsman of Cricket
London, Sept. 16.—Jack Hobbs of Surrey is the premier batsman of the English cricket world. A final calculation of first class averages shows that Hobbs played forty-one innings, obtained a total of 2,449 runs, with 116, not out, his highest. He has an average of 77.80 as compared with 66.52 obtained by Sutcliffe of Yorkshire and 64.22 for Ernest Tyldesley of Lancashire.

ZANE GREY'S "DESERT GOLD" OPENS AT THE COLUMBIA TO-NIGHT

What is finer than the thrill one gets on seeing handsome men rescue beautiful damsels in distress? Or hearing guns bark out as a wicked bandit hits the dust? When graceful animals sweep across gorgeous country—to the rescue? And seeing heroes fight for a woman's honor? Of course it's incredible and impossible. Perhaps this isn't true to life. But that's evading the point. Because it is so unreal—the statement remains. It is entertaining! Otherwise, how do you account for the world-wide popularity attained by each story Zane Grey publishes? "Desert Gold," the latest, Grey moves to reach the screen, arrives at the Columbia Theatre with a splendid cast headed by William Powell.

FATHER'S CHOICE OF DAUGHTER'S SUITOR LEADS TO TROUBLE

When a father picks a husband out for his daughter, trouble is sure to begin. That occurrence began a great deal of the trouble in the life of Fernie Schmidt, heroine of "It Must Be Love," in which Colleen Moore is starred at the Capitol Theatre this week.

Pop Schmidt, played by Jean Hersholt, was an old-style German-American, and he couldn't see why his daughter didn't like the man of his choice.

This suitor happened to be the sausage manufacturer from whom Pop bought his sausages for the delicatessen business he ran; and he couldn't see why business shouldn't be coupled with love.

CAPACITY HOUSES ENJOY COLOSSEUM'S CLEVER PRODUCTION

Mr. Redmond's reproduction of the late Mat Goodwin's famous farce-comedy, "Never Say Die," is running a hilarious course at the Coliseum, this week, capacity houses giving enthusiastic applause to this offering of the talented comedian.

The success of the production is due to its clear humor and supremely funny situations, together with the splendid acting of the complete cast under Ed. Redmond's masterly direction.

FILM ACTRESS MAKES DEBUT AFTER LENGTHY ABSENCE FROM SCREEN

Nora Cecil, now appearing in Warner Bros. "The Passionate Quest," the J. Stuart Blackton production, at the Playhouse Theatre, has returned to the screen after bringing up her children. Twenty years ago Miss Cecil was lead at the Ingle Theatre in Chicago. She escaped a calamity in stage history by deciding to go home to England, one day before the fire which destroyed the theatre.

Miss Cecil has already proven her genius for comedy, and her return to the screen augurs that she will soon regain her former enviable place among the "four hundred" of the cinema.

LONG SPEECHES ARE MADE TO EMPTY SEATS IN PICTURE MAKING

Making a speech in the movies at first thought would seem rather a useless effort, but some of the finest bits of acting the camera has ever recorded have been done that way.

In "The Big Parade," when John Gilbert, as the doughboy Jim, becomes hysterical with taut nerves he makes a speech that is seen but not heard, but there is little doubt in the minds of anyone witnessing his expressions as to what he is saying. This is the scene where Gilbert starts out of his dugout on a search for the wounded pal, Slim.

One of the longest speeches ever "seen" is made by Norma Shearer in "The Waning Sex," where as the woman attorney, Nina Duane, she addresses a jury in behalf of a client. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film is at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

It was a difficult bit of business. Imagine making an impassioned oration, impromptu, with the only auditors a director, cameraman, and a group of more or less bored and blasé electricians and studio workers.

The most difficult thing about it, says Miss Shearer, was thinking of something to say to keep the flow of words going while the camera cranked. She had to concentrate on the action rather than the words and yet keep on talking.

Coliseum Theatre Plays "Pollyanna" Benefit Next Week

Percentage of Receipts Will Go To Solumium Fund For Crippled Children

The Coliseum Theatre next week is putting on the play "Pollyanna," and has offered the Solumium a percentage of the box office receipts.

"Pollyanna" is the story of the little girl who becomes a cripple and is finally cured in an institution where expert medical attention, sunshine and proper care are lavished on her. In that this play deals with the restoration of a crippled child, it is a good way in which to bring benefits to be derived from an institution such as the Solumium.

In making the offer above mentioned the management of the Coliseum felt it was a fitting opportunity to try to help what is in their opinion the worthwhile charity that has ever been launched in Victoria.

Tickets are being distributed for sale by the various stores in the city and are reasonably priced. These tickets must be exchanged at the box office for a reserved seat.

Physical Examinations Increasing Efficiency

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Since it has been definitely shown that periodic physical examination of the employees in an industry will lower the amount of time lost from disease and increase the output of work in special departments, more and more industries are beginning to adopt the plan as a permanent investment.

In plants in which a beginning has already been made, the work is being extended to include additional groups of persons and additional special examinations requiring consultation beyond that available through the plant physician.

When these examinations were first inaugurated, they usually consisted of a brief inspection and conversation.

Complete records They now include the recording of a complete history of the patient's physical condition and a careful record of a physical examination made at the time. In most instances, the first examination is made when the workman is employed in order to determine his capacity for the labor concerned, and to eliminate the entrance into the plant of infectious diseases.

Re-examinations are made when employees are transferred from one department to another and in some industries annual examinations are made to trace the patient's physical progress.

In industries where workers use lead, benzol, mercury or other well known poisons, weekly or monthly examinations are required to determine whether or not they may be under the influence of these poisonous drugs.

When such examinations were first undertaken, workmen frequently objected because of fear that defects might be found which would be responsible for loss of their jobs, others objected because of adherence to religious beliefs which denied the character of medical science.

EDUCATED

At the public has become educated to the advantages of periodic physical examination, the number of objectors has decreased, so that only a few objections were noted among the hundreds of thousands of employees of 225 plants which now insist on medical examination as a requirement for employment.

Of the 255 plants reporting, twenty stated that they had not rejected any employee because of physical disability; ninety plants rejected from one to five per cent; forty-six plants rejected from five to ten per cent; twenty-three plants rejected from ten to twenty per cent; five plants from twenty to fifty per cent and one plant more than fifty per cent.

Among the diseases which were the most common causes of rejection for employment are venereal diseases, rickets, heart diseases, blindness, mental deficiency, defective hearing, epilepsy, high blood pressure, rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, alcoholism and gonorrhea. It will be realized that many of these conditions are curable and that others may be easily benefited by proper medical care.

W. D. MURRIN HEADS B.C. ART LEAGUE

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—W. D. Murrin of Vancouver was elected president of the British Columbia Art League at the sixth annual meeting of that organization here last evening.

Persons elected were Lieutenant-Governor Robert Randolph Bruce; Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, and Bernard McEvoy, veteran British Columbia journalist.

Man Who Says He Killed Men To Stand Trial

Minneapolis, Sept. 16.—Tom Johnson, self-acclaimed slayer and bandit, was declared sane in a report of alienists yesterday, twenty-four hours before the time set for his trial on a charge of murdering Leonard Edella here last December.

Johnson was returned from Seattle six weeks ago after he had told authorities there he had killed a dozen persons. He pleaded not guilty to the murder charge because "he wants to stand trial in some state where he will be hanged," he said. Minnesota's murder penalty is life imprisonment.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight.

This new combination of yeast vitamins with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and supplies the system with the vitamins that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamin food, but not until we perfected "Ironized Yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "Ironized Yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.

Sold by druggists at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package or sent direct to your laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Fort Erie, Ontario, Canada.

VANITY CASE

By Carolyn Wells
© 1926 by G-P-PUTNAM SONS.

"All right, then, old man. See you in the morning. Good night!" and Cunningham strode away.

But if Al Cunningham was not making much headway in his detective work, Todhunter Buck began to feel that he was getting along almost too well.

After Larry Inman had told him of coming downstairs late at night and discovering his cousin's dead body, still warm—Buck was miserable with apprehension. It was all very well to assure himself that nothing—no sort or kind of evidence would ever make him believe in the possibility of Bunny's guilt, but even if the girl had no hand in the murder, she must have known about it when she came upstairs, white and trembling, and described by Inman and with vanity case dangling from her hand.

Much as he wanted to do so, Buck couldn't believe Larry was lying, or even misrepresenting in the slightest degree.

One of Toddy's faculties was a real flair for the truth. All his life, he had almost invariably been able to tell when any one spoke falsely. It was a sort of insight or second sight, that told him at once of a speaker's insincerity.

This trait of his was a strong asset in the matter of detective work, and the only trouble was, and was working against Toddy's own desires and intentions.

He wanted to clear Bunny from the faintest breath of suspicion, but every effort he made seemed to result in further evidence of her implication in the tragedy.

He sat on his aunt's porch in the increasing darkness of the evening, just at the same time that Cunningham sat on the porch of Sam Anderson, across the Gaybrook bridge.

His thoughts dwelt on the thing Inman had told him, and he tried his best to twist it around to seem a point in Bunny's favor. This, he was totally unable to do, and so he let his mind drift back to the girl herself and her exquisite beauty.

More than mere beauty of feature, he told himself, it was beauty of soul. Why, that angel could no more harbor a guilty thought than a seraph could!

From which cogitation it is plain to be seen that Todhunter Buck was very much in love.

Indeed, he even went so far as to let his fancy play in numbers, even in rhyme. To himself he murmured:

"Your eyes—of a tender, wind-flower blue,
With innocence back of them, looking through—

It wasn't really inspired verse, but it pleased his aesthetic sense, and carried a little balm to his torn heart.

Then he came back to earth, and tried to decide why he must do. He had elected himself Bunny's knight errant, he meant to fight for her a mortal and a la mode and any other dramatic, why he could find. Moreover, he meant to be practical and if being practical meant smuggling the girl out of Harbor Gardens, then, out she must go.

For Toddy Buck was of quick decision and rapid action. He fully believed that Inman had seen Bunny, just as he had described. Buck didn't want to believe this—far from it—but Larry had sounded truthful and Tod believed him.

This didn't necessarily argue Bunny guilty in any direct way, but it did seem to prove that she knew of Myra's death at that time, and that fact would explain why Carter found her sobbing so bitterly when she went to her room to tell her the news next morning.

Toddy tried to reconstruct the scene that Bunny left when she went upstairs but this he was unable to do. He thought, it must be that she saw Myra dead, but whether she had seen her killed or not, he had no idea. If she had, why didn't she raise an alarm? Unless—no, he would never believe that Bunny had herself applied the colors of her vanity case to Myra's face!

Well, he thought, with his usual rapid conclusion, he must ask her about it. It might be hard to do that, but not so hard as to wait in suspense, and perhaps have evidence piling up against the girl he loved.

CHAPTER XXXVI

And then the object of Toddy's anxious thought came and seated herself on a low chair beside his town. So softly had she come, that he had no idea of her presence until he heard her soft, low voice saying:

"Mrs. Frentiss bid me come and talk to you for a few minutes before I go to my room."

"I'm glad to have you," he said, speaking quietly, too, and involuntarily laying his hand on the little one that rested on his chair arm.

Bunny looked up at him, her eyes of "wind-flower blue" dimly visible in the faint light that glimmered from the doorway.

"You are very good to me," she said, with a sad little sigh. "You and your aunt both. But I wish I could go home."

"I wish you could!" exclaimed Tod, his hand tightening its clasp on her own.

"Why do you speak like that? You frighten me!" she exclaimed, for his tone had been emphatic.

"I am frightened about you," he murmured. "Tell me, Bunny, tell me, dear, do you trust me?"

"Yes," she said, and her voice was clear and frank. There was no trace of coyness or shyness, it was as if soul spoke to soul, and with his power of reading the intent of another's words, Buck believed her.

He turned to face her more fully. "Do you know you are in danger?"

"Grave danger?"

"I suppose I am. But what can I do? I am very much alone—"

Her voice quivered and tears came into the blue eyes.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Sky Ice

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

When Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy promised forty 'leven little bunny children of Uncle Wiggly that she would make ice cream one day, such a jolly shouting and so much merry laughter you never heard in a month of Mondays.

"I love ice cream!" cried Tootie. "I could eat it all day!" shouted Scooter.

"Pooh! That's nothing! I could eat it all night!" said Jingle, and all the others thought Jingle was very smart.

"But to make ice cream," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the kind muskrat lady housekeeper, who helped Mr. and Mrs. Longears to look after the bunny children, "to make ice cream I must have ice."

"Oh, take some from the refrigerator!" suggested Bumble.

"I'll get it for you," offered Bumble, who was named after a bee that nearly stung him one time.

But, when they looked in the big chest where the carrots, lettuce and turnips were kept, there was hardly a smidge of ice. I don't know just how much a smudge is, but that's what Bumble said, and he ought to know.

"Not a smudge of ice!" sadly cried the little rabbit boy.

"Oh, Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear ice man, must have forgotten to leave us any," said Nurse Jane. "I can't make ice cream without ice."

"Daddicums will get it for us!" said Jingle. "He knows how!"

That's always the way it was in the hollow stump bungalow where Uncle Wiggly lived. If there was ice to get, coal to bring up, a sticky window to shut or an adventure to seek, the bunny rabbit gentleman had to do it.

But bless your rubber boots, he didn't in the least mind. He liked it! And so when the little bunny rabbits came crowding around him, saying there was no ice for the cream, Mr. Longears twinkled his pink nose, put on his silk hat and said:

"I'll get it! I'll go to the cold cave of Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear, and bring back a big chunk of ice!"

"Oh, goodie!" cried Tingle! "How I love ice cream!" sang Baby Bunt.

"May I have two dishes, mother?" asked Scramble.

"I could eat three!" laughter Amble.

"We'll see about it," was all Mrs. Longears said.

So Daddicums, Uncle Wiggly, set forth, as they say in grown up books, and all the little bunny rabbits watched him, wishing he would hurry back with the ice so Nurse Jane could freeze the cream.

Well, Uncle Wiggly had not been gone more than a few minutes before he was heard hopping up the back steps.

"My father is back quick!" said Mrs. Longears. "He must have gone in his airship."

"But he hasn't any ice!" sighed Jingle, looking from the window.

"Oh! Oh! Oh, dear!" cried all the little bunnies.

"A terrible storm is coming!" said Mr. Longears as he hopped inside the bungalow. "I didn't want to be caught in it, so I came back. See how black it is getting!" and it was really! The sky was filled with inky clouds.

"But what about our ice cream?" cried all the bunny boys and girls.

"There will soon be some sky-ice," said Uncle Wiggly. "Ice will fall from the sky in this storm and, when it is over, we can scoop it up from the ground and freeze cream with it!"

"Sky ice!" laughed Tootie. "There isn't any such thing!"

But the clouds gathered thicker and blacker. Soon the wind blew. Soon the lightning flashed. Soon the thunder rumbled and then it rained. And, with the rain came hail stones, or frozen rain drops, as big as the blue eggs of a robin. Down pelted the white, cold hail stones, covering the ground. And when the storm was over the laughing bunny boys and girls rushed out and gathered many pans of the hail stones.

Nurse Jane put this funny ice, which really fell from the sky, in the freezer with salt, and soon the cream was frozen as nicely as you please. And, if their Daddicums had said jollysops would rain from the sky, I think the little bunnies would have believed him.

But, if the bread knife doesn't cut the cake of soap, thinking it is a piece of pie, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the door mat.

BOYS AID SOLARIUM
BY ONE-CENT FAIR

Five Oak Bay Lads Show
Originality in Commendable Cause

Imbued with the commendable ambition of raising funds for the Solarium, where crippled children take the sunlight cure, five small Oak Bay boys last Saturday arranged a one cent fair, which proved a great success. The boys made stalls which were set up in the garden of 1070 David Street, Oak Bay. Fruit, candy, lemonade and prizes were supplied by their mothers.

No entrance fee was charged. All shows were one-cent. Nothing was priced more than one-cent. A large crowd of boys and girls came and thoroughly enjoyed the fair. The proceeds amounted to $18.40, which the boys were delighted to hand to Dr. C. Wace for the crippled children's home.

The young organizers were: William Davis, Douglas Pangman, Ronald McConan, Jack Banks and Ned Williams.

SAYS VICTORIA HAS EVERY NATURAL AID TO BOTANIC GARDEN

Dr. A. W. Hill of Kew Gardens Tells Audience of Wonderful Enterprise

Thinks City Should Have no Trouble in Having Exceptionally Fine Arboretum

"Beacon Hill Park is a ready-made rock garden. All it needs is to be planted with some of your local vegetation, and it will become a place of unimaginable beauty," Dr. A. W. Hill, director of Kew Gardens, London, Eng., told a gathering of botanists and plant lovers at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last night. "The Elk Lake district is also a place exceedingly well fitted to be converted into an arboretum or botanic garden," he emphasized. "When viewing it," he said, "I could imagine beautiful glades of trees and flowers, with the lake scenery in the foreground and the beautiful wooded scenery behind. There is every natural opportunity for a botanic garden here, and I urge you to put forth your greatest efforts to secure one."

FLATTERING COMMENT

This was Dr. Hill's flattering comment on the advantages enjoyed by this district by gardeners and botanists. He has been a director of Kew for nineteen years and is an eminent authority on botanic subjects.

Dr. Hill gave a vivid description of the history and the work carried out by Kew Gardens. He illustrated his talk by a well-assorted set of slides of the famous arboretum, both in color and without.

The garden was one which had benefited the world most in the promotion of science and economics as connected with botanic life, he said. The rubber industry in Ceylon and Malaya, to a large extent, quinine production in India, numerous other drugs and spices had been largely due to Kew, from which seeds which had been taken from inaccessible countries had been sent out as plants to plantations in the British Empire.

It had a far reaching history, he said. Rich in 1759, under Prince Augustus, mother of King George III, it had been inaugurated as a botanic garden. Previous to that it had been a private garden. Under George III it had progressed, and had finally come under the control of the government. Sir William Hooker, one-time director, had been a noted factor in its development.

Dr. Hill showed slides of nearly every phase of the garden, clusters of beautiful flowers, tropical and temperate, water garden, rock gardens, trees of every variety.

300 ACRES

The garden is 300 acres in extent, he explained. It has four museums and one herbarium. Fifty to seventy thousand slides are kept in it on Saturdays and holidays, he stated.

Dr. Hill delighted his audience with a description of the giant Douglas fir, the tallest tree in the world, which he pointed out to the gardeners by British Columbia before the war, showing it in the process of raising and in position.

In conclusion the eminent botanist suggested that garden lovers and botanists of the city should club together to save the beautiful stand in the neighborhood of the old mill race, which he regarded as a priceless possession.

Sir Percy Lake presided over the meeting, and after Dr. Hill had finished his lecture, Charles St. Barbe proposed a vote of thanks to the speaker. The response was hearty.

Six Speeders Caught on Stretch of Road in Front of North Dairy School

Six automobile drivers who failed to slow down to a speed of ten miles an hour on a stretch of road in front of the North Dairy school on Quadra Street were before Magistrate Jay in the Saanich Police Court and fined yesterday afternoon. Constables Rankin and Brown had checked the speed of the drivers over a distance of 440 yards, and in each case, they asserted, the accused drivers travelled at an excessive rate of speed. All were fined $20.

The police trap system, whereby unsuspecting motorists are caught and fined as a result of two posted officers checking their speed, was the cause of the drivers being haled into court.

Ernest L. Tait prosecuted for Saanich. Magistrate Jay remarked that excessive speed must be checked in Saanich, as elsewhere, especially past the schools.

Ecclesiastical Year Commemorates Release From Egyptian Bondage

With devotional exercises the Jews throughout the world started the New Year 5687 Wednesday evening at sundown, in accordance with the Divine command as laid down in chapter 17 of the Torah.

"And in the seventh month on the first day of the month, ye shall hold an Holy convocation. Ye shall do no servile work: it shall be a day of sounding the shofars for you."

"It may seem strange to the uninitiated that the Jewish New Year should start in the seventh month instead of the first month. The Jews count their year in two ways—the civil year and the ecclesiastical, or religious year. The civil year begins on the first day of the month, while the ecclesiastical or religious year commemorates the release from Egyptian bondage. The civil year generally starts in September, and is known by several names, Yom Hashanah, "The Day of Memorial," because on that day the Jews believe that God calls to memory all the sins and faults of the past year. "Yom Hadin"—"The Day of Judgment"—for on that day it is believed that every soul is on trial before God who writes down the fate of all creatures for the coming year. On Yom Teruah—the day of sounding the shofar—the (the ram's horn), because tradition states that the horn is blown to remind us that on that self-same day the sacrifice of Isaac was entered and the ram offered instead of Isaac.

DAYS OF PENITENCE

"The nine days following are known as the days of penitence, during which time special supplicatory prayers are offered up in every synagogue daily. The tenth day, 'Yom Kippur'—"The Day of Atonement"—a day unparalleled in religious history, is held as a solemn fast. Commencing this year at sundown on Friday, the 17th inst., it lasts till sundown on the 18th inst. During the twenty-four hours no Jew will taste any food or drink. The service is of a very solemn nature. The beautiful Liturgy read, brings home to the mind the duty of man to his Maker and his fellow creatures. The synagogue is dressed in white and the clergy are similarly arrayed. Prayers for the royal family and the country are offered up and the fast terminates at sundown with the blowing of the ram's horn. The day itself has a great effect on the world at large. Both the stock exchanges and money markets of London (England) and New York are virtually closed on that day owing to the absence of so many Jewish financiers.

DAYS OF SELF SCRUTINY

The Jewish New Year, unlike New Year's day of other religions, ushers in not a period of festivity, but, on the contrary, it introduces days of self-scrutiny, of soul-searching, of introspection and retrospection. Days when the Jew is enjoined to take stock of himself, review his actions during the past year, get himself ready to face the Master of his destinies and with conscience clear, and

BEAUTY AND TRAFFIC

About four centuries ago there lived in France a woman so beautiful that dense crowds gathered before her house waiting for her to appear that they might bask in her beauty. The city fathers, perturbed by this hocking of the narrow streets, asked La Belle Paule to come far that a certain hour twice a week with face unveiled so that everyone might see her loveliness at those times, and leave the streets unblocked at other hours.

It's as much fun to stroll on Saturday, the market day, over the Rialto, as to loiter in a gondola on the Grand Canal.

Here come the housewife to pinch the cabbage heads, three cents each, to sniff at the hundreds of kinds of cheese and squeegee the sickish figs and neufas.

Shakespeare, me thinks, had his poor Shylock complain that yesterday someone or other spat upon him on the Rialto and called him dog.
